

Important Notice for OFR Customers

Federal Register publications on GPO Access are moving to GPO's Federal Digital System (FDsys)

www.fdsys.gov

What you should know:

By the end of 2009, all Federal Register publications now on the "GPO Access" service will move to GPO's new "FDsys" website. OFR will post new material and provide perpetual access to historical files on FDsys.

FDsys features a greatly enhanced search engine, advanced search options with filtering tools, retrieval by citation, and digitally authenticated files.

OFR publications are evolving.

- In addition to the usual text and PDF file formats, we are developing HTML pages with links to related references.
- The daily Federal Register Table of Contents Listserv email will continue as an FDsys product.
- The e-CFR database will be more searchable and robust.

FDsys is based on XML structured data. We have plans for customer-driven Web 2.0 applications and feeds, and access to bulk data files via Data.gov.

When GPO Access is retired, links to those pages will no longer function, including Federal Register files on the "edocket.access.gpo.gov" server.

Your feedback on the FDsys beta site is welcome at: pmo@gpo.gov.

Check the FDsys.gov beta site to see the publications currently online:

- Daily Federal Register (1994 to Present)
- CFR (annual) (1996 to Present)
- e-CFR (currently updated)
- List of CFR Sections Affected (1997 to Present)
- Public and Private Laws (1995 to Present)
- United States Statutes at Large (2003 to Present)
- The United States Government Manual (1997 to Present)
- Public Papers of the Presidents (1992 to Present)
- Daily Compilation of Presidential Documents (Compilation database includes the new Daily Compilation and the Weekly Compilation, 1993 to Present)
- Privacy Act Issuances (1995 to 2005; for 2007 see FederalRegister.gov)

More about GPO's transition to FDsys >

GPO Access is evolving into GPO's Federal Digital System (FDsys), a one-stop site for authentic, published Government information.

| Search across multiple collections with a single search box | Explore by filtering available information with multi-level search | Locate authenticated documents with digital signatures, such as Congressional Bills and Public and Private Laws | Search within search results | Browse Government publications

www.fdsys.gov

GPO is committed to ensuring that you can easily locate information within FDsys. Currently on GPO Access, publications are stored in over 4,000 separate databases — with FDsys you are able to perform a search across all content. After you perform a search, filters are generated which allow you to easily narrow down your results.

visit and search www.fdsys.gov

FDsys automates the collection, management, and dissemination of electronic information from all three branches of the Government.

A Content Management System | FDsys securely controls digital content throughout its lifecycle to ensure content integrity and authenticity.

A Preservation Repository | FDsys follows archival system standards to ensure long-term preservation and access of digital content.

An Advanced Search Engine | FDsys combines extensive metadata creation with modern search technology to ensure the highest quality search.
